OUR TOWN COUNCIL.

Business Transacted at Their First Meeting for February.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the town council was held Monday evening at 7:30 with President W. R. Jenkins in the chair and the following members present: Kirk, Brown, Fenlon, Seibert, Wise, Keichline, Keller and Deetine.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the clerk, Mr. Kelly, and there being no correction, they stood approved.

There were no verbal or written communications. The Borough Treasurer Barnhart, Solicitor Fortney, Water Superintendent Ryan were present.

Borough Solicitor Fortney recommended the fixing an annual salary for the Chief Burgess. In the past few years the Burgess has received a large number of fees which he was required to turn over to council. There is an Act of 1905 which fixes a salary for the Burgess at an amount not exceeding $50 for each 1000 inhabitants. Mr. Fortney recommended that the salary be fixed at $10 for each 1000 inhabitants. He had drawn up an ordinance which he submitted for their approval.

The finance committee recommended the renewal of the borough's note for $6,500 in favor of the Borough Treasurer due Feb. 2nd for one month. They also recommended the renewal of the George R. Meek note for $4000 at 5 per cent for four months due Feb. 6th. It was so ordered.

Dr. Kirk seconded by Mr. Keichline that an order be drawn in favor of the Sinking fund for $2000. It was so ordered.

Scholars Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Pine Grove Mills High School was held in the Odd Fellows Hall last Friday night where over one hundred and fifty covers were laid. The supper consisted of oysters, cake and Ice Cream and all the dainties that go with a first class oyster supper. The fore part of the evening was taken up with an entertainment majority of dialogues and speeches and an old maids social chat that brought down the house. Miss Bulan Smith in a neat and well delivered address, bade every one welcome.

W. H. Fry was chosen toastmaster, but account of the lateness and lengthy programme toasts were short. Prof. Norman King of Altoona interested the audience with a slight of hand performance and all he could do was to laugh and laugh which accomplishment he had acquired perfectly. Miss Mary Ward and Miss Ethel Lytle presided at the organ and the school sang some very beautiful selections and Prof. Kennedy sang several songs. It was a late hour when the older folks took their leave for home, while the younger folks enjoyed a social hop until it was time to go home. The event is one long to be remembered by all present, and Harry Rossman and Miss Sadie Goss with their committee deserve much praise for the entertainment and supper served by the Misses Ward. Over 200 guests and scholars were present.

Won't Sell Philipines.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The following cablegram has been received by the secretary of war from Governor General Ide at Manila;

"Natives much disturbed by cable stating Ambassador Wright has been authorized th negotate sale of islands to Japan. Authentic denial from you might be useful."

Secretary Taft replied to the cablegram as follows:

"The cable statement referred to in your cablegram has not the slightest vestige of truth. It is not only untrue but absurdly so"

Distressing Accident in Nittany Valley.

Sadness is within the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Berry, who reside in the east end of Nittany valley, on account of the death of their bright little son Forest M., aged 12½ years.

The lad was a pupil of the east end school and in company with a number of his playmates at noon Thursday indulged in a game of "duck and drake." This game is played by placing a stone on a slight elevation, each participant in turn aims at the stone, endeavoring to knock it off, using as a missile a smaller stone, and it was in playing this game that the boy was struck on the head, back of the left ear with a stone, pitched by one of his playmates. The missile first struck the ground and bounded, striking the boy as above related. The blow was not thought to be a serious one, as it did not even stagger the little fellow, but cut a gash about one and one half inches in length. When the bell rang for "books" he took his accustomed place, and the teacher noticing the blood sent him home Upon his arrival at his home his mother bathed the wound and staunched the flow of blood, and told him to lie down, which he did. Shortly afterwards he complained of feeling sick at his stomach, and vomited some, after which he fell into a kind of stupor in which he remained a short time, awaking in a delirium,

The mother became alarmed and sent for Doctors Holloway and Dumm, but before they reached his side the promising life of the bright little boy had gone out.

The doctors made a thorough examination and found no concussion and declared that his death was due to blood clot near the base of the brain, caused by the bursting of a blood vessel, which caused paralysis and death. This sad accident has cast a gloom over the school as Forrest was a bright pupil and beloved by teacher and playmates.

Babes Burn to Death, One Calling Mother.

While Mrs. George Transeau of South Williamsport, was away from home Friday afternoon the house caught fire and her two children, one a baby of six months and the other a boy of three, were burned to death. It is believed that the boy played with fire at the stove.

When the fire was discovered by Frank Seaman, a neighbor, he ran to the door, but was unable to enter because of a flood of flame and smoke that poured out upon him. He heard the little boy calling "mamma, mamma!"

At that instant Mrs. Transeau returned and it required several men to prevent her from plunging through the door. She shrieked with agony at the sounds of her boy calling her, but in a few minutes the calling ceased. The last seemed to come from a second story room, and it was in this apartment a half hour later that a fireman found the charred body of the lad.

The baby, burned almost to a crisp, was found in the ruins of her coach, in which she was sleeping when her mother left the house.

The building was only a small one, and when the fire was discovered it was aflame from top to bottom.

Duties of Overseers of Poor.

The cases of hydrophobia of rabies that have been reporter in different parts of the state recently prompted Commissioner of Health Samuel G Dixon, to call attention to an act passed by the last legislature and approved by Governor Pennypacker.

It provides for furnishing treatment to needy persons bitten by mad dogs and is as follows:

It shall be the duty of the poor officers of the state to provide all needy persons who may be bitten by dogs suffering from hydrophobia or rabies, with the proper medical attention to prevent the development of the disease in the person or persons so bitten, which attention may include the treatment known as the Pasteur treatment.

Hurrry! Hurry!

Hurry is a word we Americans use every day—too often, in fact. If we hurry too much over things we do, especially when we are young, they are apt to be pretty badly done.

Do any of you know where this word came from? Why, just from the noises made by drivers of mules and horses to make them go faster The Garmans say huri, while in France and Germany arri or harri is the form employed. As for the Spanish muleteer, he shouts all day long to his donkey, "Arri! arri!" It is said, too, our ancestors, the old Angol-Saxons, used to speed their horses by crying "Harrer!"

APPEAL FOR EQUALITY

An Open Letter to Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker.

BY T. P. RYNDER, ERIE

For the Relief of Overburdened Farm and Home Owners, and for "A Square Deal" All Around.

IN GRAND OLD PENNSYLVANIA

HON. SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER,
Governor of Pennsylvania.

Sir;—The present session of the legislature is your act, called for needed reforms and commanded by our fundamental law.

In looking over the bankers' replies sent you, I see some advocate a reduction in state taxation. I beg leave to oppose it because our present state taxes do not bear hard on any class of taxpayers except the keepers of small saloons, and this could and ought to be made all right by grading the license as is done in other mercantile business by the amount of sales. These licenses are too high on the keepers of small saloons.

STATE CAN AND SHOULD PAY THE ENTIRE COST OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Instead of reducing the revenues of the state, let it complete the educational work by furnishing free school books and paying the whole cost of the common schools. This would be the equivalent of reducing taxation on every homestead and to every family in the state. The school tax is the most burdensome one in the state and bears hardest on individuals and communities least able to bear it. Let the state give her children absolutely free schools. Pennsylvania is able to do this great act without adding to her taxation.

STATE LENDING MONEY IS WRONG.

The state of Pennsylvania ought not to be a lender of money. It is a demoralization business under any system or rate of interest for state deposits in any bank.

HOW THE SURPLUS SHOULD BE USED.

The surplus should be applied to the purchase of her bonds until all are paid. All school and other appropriations should be promptly paid, and thus let the money enter business circulation in the proper way and places, instead of being loaned out at money centers to assist speculation.

JUSTICE FOR MINORITY PARTIES INVOKED.

In the primary election law, you can remove the discrimination against minority parties (the percentage clause of the law) by providing that any party with a state and national organization may have its candidates on the official ballot by certification of its convention or caucus officers, without reference to the percentage of votes cast at any previous election. Thus you could bring about a "square deal" in politics in our state. Some of us are in a state of political slavery owing to the Baker ballot law. This reform can be made in the primary election law.

Having taken radical and proper measures for needed reforms, I beg you to give your earnest support to these.

THEODORE P. RYNDER,
Chairman Populist State Committee.
Erie, Pa., Jan. 22nd, 1906.

A Report of Progress.

The gentleman, well known by the name A Safegnard, informs us that the Safeguard temperance movement is progressing with encouraging prospect for success and extension beyond the confines of the Keystone State. The plan is now so far developed that the young people who undertake to pursue the course as directed can do so at just half the cost mentioned in his first public statement. Any boy or young person, sure as he lives, can have in possession genuine reliable gold watch with chain to correspond. He says, "the names of all engaging in this undertaking are enrolled for permanent preservation in the book of The Safeguard Temperance Society. The object is to encourage the boys everywhere to exercise the most commendable manliness in "the good fight" against an enemy who is ever ready to lead captive at his will all the young people he can by bad habits unto destruction. To resist him and put him to flight requires manliness on the part of our boys. Dare to be a Daniel.

Two Victims of a Terrible Accident.

Lewistown, February 6.—A terrible death, possibly a fatal injury and a miraculous escape from death by being run down by a Tuscarora Valley train, about a quarter of a mile from Port Royal, Friday evening, was the fate of a party whose carriage was crashed into by a passenger train running at a high rate of speed. Mrs. R. M. Cunningham, a well-to-do farmer's wife, who resides near Mifflintown with her husband and ten children, spent the day in Port Royal, returning homeward in her carriage accompanied by Miss Bertha Tuttle and a 9-year-old boy named Homer Hosler. In attempting to cross the tracks ahead of the close-approaching train, the carriage was struck squarely in the middle, smashing it into atoms. Mrs. Cunningham was thrown to the rails, the train passing completely over her. From her chest upward she was crushed and mutilated beyond recognition. The lad was found covered by the carriage debris, unconscious and perhaps fatally injured. The young lady, Miss Tuttle, miraculously escaped without even a scratch. When the vehicle was struck it was stripped of its top, in which the young woman was hurled, both lodging on the pilot of the engine. Remaining there until it was brought to a halt, she stepped from her perilous position and bravely assisted in aiding the injured boy.

The escape of Miss Tuttle is much commented upon. Apparently she bears a charmed life. Several years ago, during a big demonstration at Mifflintown, a bridge collapsed, injuring a score of people She was in the midst of the debris and injured and was the only person who did not sustain an injury. Last June she made her second escape from instant death. Accompanied by her father and brother she was walking on the railroad tracks near Port Royal, when a passing train drowned the noise of another in an opposite direction. She could never account for the reason why she stepped from the rails, just in time to escape, an engine which struck and instantly killed her father and brother.

No More White Pine.

There is food for national reflection in the statement by a newspaper representing the Michigan lumber interests that "to all intents and purposes there is no white pine here any more.

White pine has been, up to a comparatively recent date, the most universal staple of the lumber trade. Within the memory of men not much past the middle age the supply of this widely used staple was deemed inexhaustible. But the Maine forests first, then those of northern Pennsylvania, and finally those of Michigan and Wisconsin, have been denuded, until now the stage is reached where it is fully recognized that the white pine supply is gone; and either far inferior or much more costly wood must be used in its place.

Two causes have accelerated this result. First a wasteful and greedy system of lumbering has denuded the forest lands east of the Mississippi, without providing for new growth. Hillsides and highlands that might have been covered with growing timber has been left unplanted. Foresighted people have predicted this result and made efforts to secure enlightened forestry but the national disposition to make what it can in the present and to leave the future to take care of itself have prevailed, with the final result of this dearth.

Home Missions near Home.

The boys and girls on Half Moon Hill are fortunate in having a friend in Bellefonte who is freely furnishing them with attractive picture papers and Scripture lesson leaves from the American Sunday School Union for use at home every Sabbath Day. It is called a Home Bible School. At Coleville there is no Sunday School these pleasant winter months. The friend referred to, if he had the means and opportunity would do likewise for that suburb so that the hundred or more children and young people there would not, as we are told they do, run about doing as they please on the Sabbath Day.

This is Home Missions needful to be done near home.

The total loss is estimated at $125,000.

COURT NEWS

Some of the Cases Disposed of at Second Week of Court—Heavy Verdict Against Curtin Forge Company.

In the case of Chas. Dreifus, doing business as Chas. Dreifus & Co., vs Harry R. Curtin and Florence Fox Dale, executrix et al of John M. Dale, deceased, co-partners, doing business as the Curtin Forge Company, which was on trial this week before Judge Orvis, the jury found in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $1712.00. This case went to trial on Tuesday afternoon and arose out of a contract between plaintiff and defendant, whereby plaintiffs were to furnish twenty cars of Westinghouse steel scrap to defendent company. There was a good deal of comment in regard to this verdict many who heard the evidence considering it excessive.

Ezra Ripka, of Penn township, vs Annville Fire Insurance Company of Lebanon. This was a suit brought by Ripka to recover on a policy on a house he bought which subsequently burned down. Ripka bought the house on a Saturday expecting to move in the next Monday. On Saturday he insured the house in the Annville Insurance Company paid the premium and all. He paid $537.50 and had it insured for $500. On the following Monday morning before he had time to move in the house burned down. The company refused to pay the claim, giving the excuse that they had never approved the application.

Anna Bell Dyke vs. J. C. Harper settled.

Mrs. C. E. Lucas, also written Elizabeth Lucas vs Catherine E. Lucas, executrix under the last will and testament of Wm. P. Lucas, deceased, verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $794.14.

A. and W. Weber, executors, vs Catherine E. Lucas, executrix of etc., of Wm. P. Lucas, late of Howard borough, deceased; verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $635.32, and an attorney's commission of $25.00

On Monday afternoon the first case taken up was that of J. B. Kern vs. Frank Auman, being a trespass case from Penn township.

This action arose out of some trouble relative to the water rights between these parties, both plaintiff and defendant living at or near a small stream of water which flows from the mountain towards Penn's Creek. There is a stream of water which rises in the mountains, flows out into the valley, and according to the plantiff's theory of the case, some distance above the residence of the defendant, who also lives above the plaintiff; there was a division in this stream which turned about one third to the right flowing past the residence of the plantiff and defendant, and that the defendant put obstruction in the stream at the place where this division took place, so as to cause most of the water to go down the main stream and not down the channel past the residence of the plaintiff. The defendant's theory is that this second stream of water does not come from the main channel, but is fed by springs at the foot of the mountain and flows down past these people, and that the quantity of water has been materially decreased by reason of the removal of the timber, the theories of the plaintiff and the defendant according to their draft being separate and distinct. Verdict on Tuesday evening in favor of the plaintiff for $20.

State Y. M. C. A. to Meet in Washington Soon.

The thirty-eighth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian associations of Pennsylvania will be held at Washington February 22 25., This gathering will doubtless be one of the most important of the year. Its members will consist of many of the most experienced and up-to-date Christain business men of the state. The topics to be presented are those relative to problems in the actual daily experience in association work. Some new phases rather out of the ordinary, will be presented, thus assuring plenty of interest on the part of the deligetes.

The men to handle the different subjects have been carefully chosen on the basis of having peculiar fitness for the task assigned. In other words, these men will bring to the convention a genuine message, not the echo of one hoped for. After each presentation, plenty of time will be allowed for popular discussion, at which time the "bid may be raised" provided the regular speaker has failed to do so.

Departmental specialism will be judiciously treated by experts in the sectional conference, arrangements for one of the afternoons of the convention.

Men interested in this great brotherhood, will be sure to book these dates for Washington.

New Fish Found in State Waters.

Three fish inhabit Pennsylvania waters which have heretofore been supposed to be no nearer this state than Indiana and Tennessee. They are a species of minnow, a species of red-spotted darter. In an advance report to Commissioner Meehan, C. F. Noll and W. R. McConnel, two State College students, who spent last summer studying fish throughout the state, make the statement of the discovery. The item is of purely scientific interest, rather than general, all of the fish are small and of no use for food.

The minnow, rhinichthys atronasus, has never before been found out side of Indiana and the darter, etheostoma maculatum, has never before been found east of that state. The catfish, schilbeodes minnus, has never been found north of Tennessee up to this time. All of these fish are about the same size, when full grown, of the ordinary bullfish. Whether or not the new spacies exist in this state in quantity will not be known until Commissioner Meehan receives a full report from Noll and McConnell. The two students were recommended for the work by Zoologist Surface, who was asked for assistance by Commissioner Meehan, and they spent their entire vacation tramping up and down Pennsylvania water-ways, completing their statistical work at the College this winter.

A College Woman's Idea.

At the Wellesley Club luncheon in New York the other day. Dr. Dwight said. "What we women need is to do, and the best way to do is to be, and the only way to be is to be definitely, sweetly, patiently, for others. We must not only be good, but good for something. I do believe that the best work woman can do is to work for the perfection of herself and her highest mission is to work from within out, to hold to the old until the new is proven and to bring others up to her level."

BATTERY'S LONG MARCH

Incidents of Greatest Artillery "Hike" In Time of Peace.

EXPLOIT OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Members of Sixth Field Battery on Their March From Fort Riley, Kan., to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., Were Tendered Splendid Receptions. School Children Lined Roadsides and Sang Patriotic Songs.

The members of the Sixth field battery of the United States artillery, commanded by Captain G. W. Gatchell, who made the now memorable march of 1,100 miles from Fort Riley, Kan., to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., in fifty-five days, are now fit as a fiddle and show no effects of the long march, says a Fort Sam Houston correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean. In fact, the condition of the battery was greatly exaggerated in some of the newspaper reports, and Captain Gatchell has replied to his critics. The men arrived at Fort Sam Houston in a healthy condition. Some of the horses were thin and some have work sores, but the post veterinarian says they are in good condition.

"The fact that the men were footsore and weary and wore torn and muddy clothing when they arrived does not mean that they suffered any great physical pain on the long march," said Captain Gatchell.

The loss of Private Arthur Hull was greatly regretted by the captain, but it was pointed out that Private Hull's malaria was probably contracted before the march, and had his condition been known he would not have been permitted to leave Fort Riley.

Otherwise it was a "great hike," as one of the men expressed it. The idea was to have the battery move just as it might move in wartime. The proposition was, "Send the 6th battery at Fort Riley to join the forces at Fort Sam Houston." It was assumed that under war conditions the battery could not use the railways, which had possibly been destroyed, and that it was highly important for it to reach Fort Sam Houston in the shortest possible time. In reality the march was a practice march, intended to give the men practical experience.

In this march the battery passed through central and southern Kansas, crossed Oklahoma and a part of Indian Territory and traveled in Texas from the northern boundary to San Antonio, in the southern part of the state. When it entered the portals of Fort Sam Houston amid the cheers of the local garrison it had broken the record for the world's long distance march of artillery. It is by far the longest practice march ever made by artillery in time of peace, and no forced march in time of war, with the exception of Napoleon's retreat from Moscow, compares with it in distance.

The route to be followed in the long march was not laid out before leaving Fort Riley. It was marked out in a general way upon a field map, but the details were left to the discretion of Captain Gatchell. Through parts of Oklahoma and Indian Territory the route followed was located some distance away from any railroad.

Several severe spells of weather were encountered. The worst was when a blizzard swept down upon the battery one morning just after they left Austin, Tex., and it continued during nearly all of the remainder of the march to San Antonio, a distace of about ninety miles. The men walked nearly the whole distance in order to weep warm. The battery lost one man by sickness during the march. Private Arthur Hall was attacked with malaria and died in the hospital at Austin.

The route of the march was for the most part through a remote section of the west and southwest, where the United States troops are rarely seen. There was one bright and memorable feature of the trip, and that was the splendid receptions which were tendered the battery along the route by the rural and town citizens from the time of leaving Fort Riley until Fort Sam Houston was reached. At every town, large or small, the officers and men of the battery were the recipients of bountiful feasts and royal receptions.

Captain Gatchell relates many amusing and interesting incidents of the trip. The farmers along the route seemed to be especially proud of the soldiers. It was not unusual for the battery to be halted at a farmhouse upon invitation of the farmer and his good wife, who spread a feast of pies and sweet milk for the men and officers. At almost every farmhouse flags were waved as the battery passed by, and Old Glory was spread to the breeze on every schoolhouse.

At several places the school children were lined along the sides of the road and sang patriotic songs as the battery passed. Captain Gatchell relates an incident of one enthusiastic farmer in Texas who welcomed the battery with a salute from his shotgun. He fired the double barrels at the same time as each section of the battery passed him, and he cheered the men until they were out of hearing.

Many ex-Confederates joined in these enthusiastic welcomes to the soldiers. At Decatur, Tex., General Sellars, a distinguished Confederate commander, insisted on the men and officers of the battery becoming his guests at a turkey dinner. The invitation had to be declined, as a stopover for the feast could not be made.

The battery encountered severe rains and floods in Indian Territory and north Texas. They had a hard time fording some of the streams owing to their swollen condition. The Canadian river was particularly difficult to cross, and the drowning of several of the men and horses was narrowly averted. The remarkable march is looked upon in military circles as a great triumph, but it is believed that it proved too severe a tax upon the endurance of the men and horses to bear repetition.

The march was made during the most favorable time of the year. The start from Fort Riley was at the first beginning of cold weather in that region, and it ended just as winter was setting in in southwest Texas. It is generally conceded that it would have been impossible for the long march to be made in either midwinter or midsummer.

During the march the appearance of the command was at some places the subject of adverse criticism on the part of newspapers—this despite the fact that all the men and horses of the battery came through the ordeal of a long march with but the loss of one man and one horse.

These clippings, which in some instances alleged suffering by men and horses, had been forwarded by the war department to General Jesse M. Lee, commanding the military department of Texas, and by him to be referred to Captain George W. Gatchell, commanding the battery. These newspaper stories about the suffering of the men and horses are thought to have arisen from first impressions gained on seeing the battery as it marched as it would in times of war through the country.

It was never anticipated that the march of the battery should be a demonstration of the American soldier as he appears in full dress uniform; neither was it the intention that the battery should at all times be in condition to halt and march into the midst of a brilliantly lighted ballroom and at once become to a man the hero of all the matinee girls who happened to be present. On the other hand, actual war was simulated. The men were continually on the march. They did not feel like shaving every day. Riding several hundred miles through all sorts of weather is also calculated to bring a polish to the surface of a soldier's trousers. It will also bring a ruddy glow of health. The members of the battery brought all of these back with them.

Captain George W. Gatchell shortly after the arrival of the battery referred to newspaper comments. On this subject he said:

March a battery through rain and mud and it will present a weather beaten appearance. Mud is splattered on the horses and the men, and they cannot possibly look their best. Most of the criticisms of an adverse nature on the battery were due to this condition. Some people could not comprehend that we were on a hard service march.

The results of the march, as regards the objects to be attained, are extremely satisfactory. We forded treacherous streams, experienced all sorts of weather, were subjected to almost every climatic condition the country affords and arrived here (Fort Sam Houston) with the loss of one soldier was regrettable, but we feel that it was just a coincidence; that he might have died under different conditions. The horse we lost was an old one and pretty well used up to begin with. An ambulance was abandoned at the ford of a river, but it also had about outlived its usefulness. With these exceptions we returned as we left. The march has been of great benefit to the officers and the men, as they have experienced service resembling that afforded by war times.

One of the rank and file was seen. He said:

It was a great hike. Of course, we are glad that it has ended, but there is not a man in the battery scarcely who regrets having taken it. No hardships were suffered by the men that could not have been avoided by themselves. True, it would get pretty cold nights in camp, but if a man did not have energy enough to get up and keep his fire going he should have had to shiver a little.

As a further evidence that the battery arrived home in good condition not a man of the command entered the hospital.

Five Millions For a Fence.

The government of New South Wales has spent over $4,000,000 for all kinds of means to prevent the growth of the rabbit plague, and it has now been decided to fence in the whole country with an immense wire net, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The expense for this wire net is estimated to exceed $5,000,000, and it is thought that the wire required for this purpose can be imported from abroad at the cost of about $150 per mile, delivered at Sydney. The rabbit plague is increasing from year to year, which is best shown by the fact that such an enormous amount as $5,000,000, or nearly 10 per cent of the annual revenue of the country, is to be spent for this purpose.

Exhibition For Burbank Creations.

What has been accomplished by Luther Burbank, the horticultural wizard of California, through his researches in the vegetable kingdom is to be demonstrated by the exhibition of specimens of his making the coming summer at Green Lake, Wis., says the Chicago Record-Herald. The collection will be sufficiently extensive to include the greater part of the more remarkable creations, which will be transported from Santa Rosa, Cal., and placed in the conservatories of Sherwood forest at Green Lake. George Wilson, proprietor of Sherwood forest, said recently that every effort was being made to have the collection in place in time to be opened to the public June 1.

Growing Lemons in Kentucky.

S. H. McMakin, one of the best known residents of Shelby county, is convinced that lemons can be raised in Kentucky, as he has grown them himself, says the Louisville Post. One specimen measures thirteen inches in circumference. Mr. McMakin planted a slip sent him by a friend in New York and obtained several lemons of great size. They require too much attention to be grown in Kentucky to any extent, but a few can be raised without difficulty.

All Run Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is just such a food in its best form. It will build up the weakened and wasted body when all other foods fail to nourish. If you are run down or emaciated, give it a trial: it cannot hurt you. It is essentially the best possible nourishment for delicate children and pale, anaemic girls. We will send you a sample free.

Beauty is born in the blood. Beauty is more than "skin deep," it is blood deep. When the blood is tainted by disease the flesh will feel it and the skin will show it. Sallow or muddy complexions, pimples, blotches, and eruptions are only the surface signs of impure blood. Face washes, lotions, complexion powders, may palliate the evils but they cannot cure the disease. The only cure is to cleanse the blood of the poisonous matter which is the cause of the outbreak in flesh and skin. Impure blood can be absolutely purified by the use of Dr Pierce,s Golden Medical Discovery. Its effect on flesh and skin is marked. Sores heal and disappear. The skin become smooth, and regains its natural color. The eyes brighten and sparkle, the whole body is radiant with the brightness and beauty of health. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics The use of Dr. Pierce,s Pleasant Pellets assists the action of the "Discovery," by cleansing the system of clogging matter.

LANGUAGE IN SOBS.

London Lancet Calls Them Monosyllabic Sentences.

If the average man were asked why he sighed, groaned or moaned he would probably be at a loss for a reply.

The London Lancet, however, whose columns seldom fail each week to add to the gayety of the nations, makes the cause of these peculiar manifestations of discontent perfectly clear, says a London special cable dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. The Lancet says:

"There is no doubt that there are considerable mental comfort and relief obtained from a series of long drawn sighs during a period of sorrowful depression or from noisy ejaculations of the nature of groans and moans made by a sufferer from such a painful disorder as acute dyspepsia or violent toothache.

"Sobbing, sighing, moaning and groaning are, as it were, sentences in a monosyllabic cosmopolitan language.

"These sounds are really the vocal representation of certain overwrought physical or mental states consequent in general upon a longer or shorter period of inhibition of the rhythmic discharge of the respiratory center situated in the spinal bulb. The diaphragm has been fixed, the breath either voluntarily or involuntarily has been held or has been shallow, while breathless introspective attention has been paid to some absorbing pain or sorrow.

"This condition is markedly present in patients suffering from melancholia, who continually and deeply sigh. If this expression of excessive psychical stimulation is rapidly and vigorously performed a cry of anguish or of fright may result, whereas at the other end of this series of phenomena is the feeling of 'wanting to sigh,' well known among those who are run down in general health.

"At times these sounds are emitted with the sole object of eliciting the sympathy of bystanders. This is notably the case with hysterical cries."

PALATIAL AUTOMOBILES.

Sleeping Facilities Novel Feature In W. G. Brokaw's French Car.

W. Gould Brokaw of New York will within a few months be the possessor of three of the handsomest automobiles in America, says the New York Times. Each will be a foreign machine of a different make, but their unusual features lie in the luxurious carriage bodies that he has ordered from Parisian carriage builders. The finest of the three will be fitted to a new fifty horsepower Fiat car, and it is said that this will be the most palatial automobile carriage body ever built. It will be of the limousine or covered type. The interior seats will be so arranged that they may be made into a berth for sleeping if desired. There will also be a washstand with a complete toilet outfit, an ice box, a lunch hamper, while all of the minor conveniences, as electric lights and electric signals for the driver, will be included. The car will be able to carry from four to six passengers besides the driver, and the body has been especially designed for long and comfortable tours.

A new seventy horsepower Mercedes recently purchased by Mr. Brokaw will be fitted with a Victoria top body, while his third car is a ten horsepower Renault, which will be fitted with a coupe top body, and the driving will be done by the passenger inside the carriage.

The fashionable colors are blue, garnet and pearl gray, and in most of these bodies the upholstery is made to match. The inside driven cabs are the newest things in France and are very popular for use by doctors and others who desire the advantages of a runabout without being exposed to inclement weather. What is known as the demountable limousine is another new form of body. It is generally called the "khedive" type, from the fact that the khedive of Egypt had the first of these made to order.

CHURCH IN SKYSCRAPER.

Chicago Congressman Will Worship With Offices on All Sides.

Chicago's tallest church soon will rise at Washington and Clark streets if the plans which were undertaken the other night are carried to completion, says the Chicago News. These plans contemplate a $1,000,000 skyscraper on the site now occupied by the First Methodist church. Within the great building will be a large auditorium for the accommodation of the worshipers. The rest of the building will be devoted to offices.

Steps to improve the property were taken at a joint meeting of the First Methodist and the Trinity Methodist churches. A committee of three was appointed to memorialize the trustees of the property to begin work on the improvement at once.

Town's Big Dance For Farmers.

The farmers of Brown and adjoining counties in the state of Minnesota are to have the time of their lives on Feb. 16, according to the plans of Manager Charles Gottschalk of the new auditorium, says an Aberdeen (Minn.) correspondent of the St. Paul Pioneer Press. He plans to open the auditorium on that date with a farmers' dance, and his committees are scouring the country roundabout with sheaves of invitations, which are being eagerly accepted. The affair is to be exclusive. No townspeople are to be admitted to the building on the night of the ball. Farmers, their wives, their sisters, daughters and sweethearts are to have full sway, and the affair promises to be one of the biggest and most successful social events ever held in Aberdeen. The dancing floor will accommodate 130 sets in a square dance and thousands of dancers for the waltzes and twosteps.

DARING WILD BRUTES.

The Panthers of India and How They Secure Their Prey.

In certain parts of India the panther is named "bipat," which means calamity, for he is an ever present scourge among the people. His proper name is tendwa. It is the habit of these panthers for a family of them to quarter themselves on a circle of villages within convenient distance of their nightly prowlings. As soon as the sun is below the horizon they sally forth from the cover of the surrounding forests and watch the paths by which the village herds and flocks return to their resting places. If a meal cannot be secured then, later on they enter a village and patrol the dark lanes in the boldest manner. Nothing comes amiss to them that is not too large and heavy for their strength.

Children, dogs, goats and the young cattle are their favorite quarry. They are bold enough to dash into a hut even with a light burning in it, seize their prey, then rush away with lightning speed and, with a noiselessness that is marvelous, retreat with their prize to the nearest cover and there devour it. In the morning the poor villager, following the tracks of the retreating animal, soon arrives at the few remains of his goat or calf or maybe his child.

In the following way the natives get their revenge: A stray dog is caught in the village and is tied out on the path generally frequented by the panther family. The bait is carried off during the night and devoured close by. Next day a machan (platform) is fixed in a convenient tree, and in the evening a kid is tied on the spot occupied by the dog on the previous night. The sportsman settles himself in the machan before sunset and begins his watch.

Terrified by his lonely position, the kid begins a frantic bleating, which soon attracts the panther marauders, which are skulking about near the spot where they found their last meal. A short stalk soon brings them to the kid and directly under the concealed sportsman, who shoots the beasts. It is impossible to follow the panthers into the impenetrable cover they frequent, and they never show themselves in daylight.—Chicago News.

English as She Is Written.

The publication which was once brought out in Portugal bearing the title "English as She Is Spoke" has for a long time enjoyed a worldwide reputation. Tourists on the continent of Europe sometimes come across examples of English quite as curious as that of the Portuguese author.

In the bedroom of a hotel at Genoa the following notice was found: "The lamentations of the waiters are obliged to be made at the bureau." It was in a hotel also, and not a church, that the following request was made in writing: "Visitors are prayed into dining when the bell rings, that they may not disturb the order of the service." There is a hotel advertisement in Calais station to the following effect: "Quite a peculiar animation resides at this fashionable spot of Paris. In the rear the grand opera of a splendid architecture on one side of the Grand hotel, entirely made afresh and in a more extensive way, is the meeting of all strangers of distinction." Finally, this curious legend has recently been seen on a notice board on a garden wall in Jersey, one of the Channel islands: "Any dog found in this garden the proprietors of the dog paid one pound sterling for each times."

Easing the Pressure.

"Mr. Kiljordan," said the young man with the bill, "would it be convenient for you to"—

"No, it wouldn't!" stormily interrupted Kiljordan, looking up with blood in his eye. "You addle pated idiot, don't you know enough not to interrupt a man when he's at work? The payment of this installment isn't due till tomorrow anyhow, you daddinged lunkhead! For half a cent I'd throw you out of the window. Take your gumdasted face out of here or I'll"—

The terrified youth waited to hear no more. He darted out through the door and made for the stairway, down which he went three steps at a time.

"What ails you, Kiljordan?" asked the man at the other desk. "Why did you try to scare that boy half to death?"

"I've no grudge against the boy," he answered, turning to his work, "but I couldn't swear at the woman with the gentle manner and the neighborhood charity scheme who buzzed me for half an hour before he came in, and I had to let out on somebody."—Chicago Tribune.

Railway to the Red Sea.

To the Red sea, not in Pharaoh's chariots, but in steam cars, is what the people are to do early this year, says the Chicago Tribune. Most of the constructive material and locomotives have been sent from Glasgow. The line extends from Suakim, the present sea terminus, 332 miles into the interior, traversing first northward and then ascending the plateau 3,000 feet high, which runs parallel with the coast. Stretching fifty miles across the waterless waste of desert, it reaches the Atbara river twenty miles below its confluence with the Nile. Skirting the river, it ultimately joins the Khartum-Wady-Halfa railway north of the Atbara bridge. The new line will cost about $10,000,000 and will include extensive bridge works. Suakim may come to be a great port, as the new terminus, now known as Port Sudan, forty-five miles south of Suakim, already has developed greatly and has a population of 2,000. The country traversed is capable of great development.

KEEP THE KIDNYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some People Know How to Save. It.

Many Bellefonte people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill-health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

W. R. Camp, of the firm of Kirk-Camp Furniture Co., Logan Ave., and 14th St., Tyrone, Pa., says: "Experience has taught me that Doan's Kidney Pills is an excellent remedy and one that strictly fulfills its promises. In the fall of 1897 I gave for publication in our local papers a statement covering my experience with this remedy and recommending it to others, and now in the month of June, 1904, I just as enthusiastically recommend it as I did at that time. Doan's kidney pills completely relieved me of an aching in the small of my back and lameness through the loins due to kidney trouble. We always keep this preparation in the house for use in case of need, and it has never failed to give splendid satisfaction. I heartily endorse it.

EARLE C. TUTEN.

TO THE PUBLIC

Concerning Pianos.

No matter what pretense is made by any firm, from anywhere, for selling Pianos cheap, I will duplicate any instrument offered on the same terms of payment.

We have such noted High Grade makes to select from as the Knabe, Behr Bros. Schomacker, Briggs, Haines Bros., Hobert M. Gable, Brumbach, and all the other Standard makes and we guarantee to furnish the Pianos of your choice at as low cost as you can procured it elsewhere.

Honest Pianos, with honest representation, at honest prices, and terms to suits.

Have you ever received a gold dollar for ½ or ¼ its value?

Don't be deceived when offered a Stencil or a Low Grade Pianos of prices more than its real worth.

Remember there is a lot of Piano Hypocrisy.

A Stencil piano is one which does not bear the name of the maker, is therefore an irregular piano of indefinite origin low grade and misleading.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

They offer you something unsecuring value for a small price and when the victims have all bitten and begin to get uneasy they are gone.

Schemes of this kind fatten upon fatal propensities of people to go away from home to get something for nothing instead of patronaging the home business man who helps makes the town.

WE ARE HERE TO STAY to be responsible to you for every instrument we sell and every promise we make and when our guarantee goes with them you have something, because we are in business right here all the time paying taxes here; rents here, living here, and contributing our share to charities here, so that we ask you in all candor, and justice to us, that if you want to buy a piano let us sell it to you right here.

We carry a complete line of high grade organs, piano case, and cottage styles at bargain prices, on terms to suit.

Second hand and slightly used Upright pianos from $75.00 and upward.

Square pianos in good condition at $35.00, $40.00 and $60.00.

Thanking you for past patronage, we cordially invite you to call and see our display of fine pianos.

HOW TO SPEAK GERMAN.

You Can Learn the Language in Ninety Days.

Strange, but nevertheless true, you or anyone else can learn to speak, read and write the German language absolutely free. For 90 days, in every Daily Issue of The Pittsburg Dispatch, a lesson in German will be printed so simple that a child with ordinary education can master the language. Parents who have children not old enough now to study them should cut out the lessons each day and save them. If you save the lessons all your children can learn German. Since the first of last July thousands have learned the Spanish and Italian languages from the simple lessons published in The Dispatch. More people, however, who would have liked to have learned those languages were prevented from doing so by not knowing about them. We hope every one in this vicinity may read this item, and take advantage of the opportunity. The first lesson will be printed Monday, February 5th. Tell your newsagent to leave you the Daily Dispatch regularly and get the benefit of these lessons—only 10 cents by the week.

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT.

C. M. Parrish Says He Has at Last Discovered a Positive Cure for Indigestion.

"For years," said the above druggist "we have been waiting for some one to discover a remedy that really will cure dyspepsia.

"I recently learned that a new remedy, Pepsikola Tablets, had been placed on the market, and on investigation I found that at last there is a remedy that surely will come.

"I laid in a big supply because I knew that as soon as the people began to know about this remarkable remedy there would be a big demand for it, and it is selling beyond my expectations."

It is not often a druggist sells a new remedy on a positive guarantee, but unless cured of nervousness, dizzy spells, sour stomach, coated tongue, palpitation and other symptoms of dyspepsia, Mr. Parrish will hand back your money cheerfully and without argument.

No one should hesitate on trying a 25-cent box of Pepsikola Tablets, as they will not cost you a penny should they fail to relieve and cure the very worst case of indigestion and dyspepsia.

Cattle Buyer Murdered by a Business Visitor.

Warren, O., Jan. 26.—Mystery surrounds the murder at West Farmington Friday night, in which R. K. Lewis, a prominent cattle buyer, and rich farmer, was the victim The murderer came to the house in a carriage. Lewis, hired man heard him talking to Lewis, but did not get up to see who he was. Later, smelling smoke and burning oil, he went downstairs and found Lewis with the back of his head crushed in and a gash in the forehead, bound and the body covered with oil saturated straw which was burning. He managed to extinguish the fire, and give an alarm. Farmers Henry Belden and John Jameson came to the rescue.

Lying on the table were account books. There is no definite clue to the murderer. Lewis lived alone with his farm hand.

The murdered man was 68 He came from a family identified with the early settlement of this section and was promsnent in business, church and civic affairs. He was rated as one of the wealthies men of the county, is sons are prominently connected. The Hauser Cattle company, of Girard, with which Lewis was connected, has placed detectives on the case.

Hair and Beards.

In centuries past the human hair played an important part in all judicial proceedings. Those who were permitted to wear beard and hair had rights that could not be claimed by the shorn and shaved. When men made oath they touched their beard and hair, women placed the finger tips of their right hand on their tresses

Servants were obliged to have their hair cut, and if a freedman went into slavery he had to divest himself of his hirsuit adornments. An adult adopted by foster parents was obliged to have his beard shaved, and the shaving of beard and hair was a punishment inflicted on criminals. The jurisprudence of our ancestors dealt with punishment "by skin and hair" for small offenses and "by neck and hand" for greater crimes

There has always been more or less superstition about hair. Great strength was implied by it, and wizards and witches knew of concoctions of hair by which they poisoned enemies. Cat's hair was especially named in the category of poisonous hairs, and even at the beginning of the seventeenth century Paulus Zacchias, a famous physician, writes of the virulent poison of the hair of cats.

Among civilized people such superstitions beliefs have gone out of existence, and only Malays give their enemies tiger hairs in broth to kill them.

Eloping Boy and Girl are Caught.

A sensational elopement ended disastrously for the young runaways from Sunbury Tuesday. A boy and a girl were brought back to the parental roots under escourt of a railroad detective.

About 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the parents of Miss Ethel Grant, a pretty 18 year-old school girl, and Robert Kiesinger same age, learned that an elopment had been planned and no trace of the youngsters could be found hurried to the Pennsylvania railroad station to learn that Robert and Ethel had departed a few minutes before on a passenger train bound for Elmira, N. Y. Soon wires were speeding messages to stop the runaway lovers. Several hours later word was received that the wedding would not occur. The pair had been taken from the train on its arrival at Williamsport.

When they were brought back to Sunbury they were greeted at the station by large number of young friends and, although deeply chagrined, their manner clearly expressed the idea that "there'll come a time some day."

Unionville.

Our people were surprised when they arose on Monday morning to fine everything out doors covered with snow, it is pleasant to see the beautiful white snow again.

Dr. Irwin has been in ill health this winter and not able to go any distance from home most of the time, which is quite a disadvantage to the many people over the country who are sick and desire his services, it is unfortunate to be ill and yet more unfortunate not to be able to secure a doctor when one is needed, however, we sympathize with the doctor and sincerely hope that he will soon regain his former strength

Miss Sue Underwood teacher of the primary grade in our schools, missed over two weeks of school with a spell of sickness, we are happy to say she is well again and filling her position as teacher.

Wills, of the United Society, which was full of interest, giving a chronological review or the when of Christian Endeavor, a geographical review or the where of Christian Endeavor. A statistical review, the how much of C. E. A review of principles, the why of C. E. A review of methods, the how of C. E. A review of achievements the what of C E. And a forward look the next of C. E The first society was formed in 1881 by Francis Clark at Portland, Maine and was extended beyond the United States, to New Brunswick in 1883, to Hawaii in '84, to China in '85 and to England in '88. The next International convention will be held next July in Geneva, Switzerland. The United States contains more than 45,000 societies. Great Britain and Ireland more than 10,000 societies. Canada more than 4,000 societies, more than 30 denominations in the United States have entered the movement and more than 60 in all the world. The whole number of societies in all the world (for it has been extended to every town and nation) in 67,213. It has continued these 25 vigorous years, as a far reaching and fruitful experience. It faces the future as a significant and glorious expectation. For a richer fruitfulness of Christian Endeavor in the future, it is the grand privilege of every Endeavorer to contribute, and in the vision of that privilege let us seek to be grateful and faithful.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Prominent Physicians Endorse Pe-ru-na.

DR. LLEWELLYN JORDAN, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peruna:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering.

"Fellow sufferers, Peruna will cure you."--Llewellyn Jordan.

Doctors have been loathe to endorse a catarrh remedy because catarrh and catarrhal diseases have puzzled the medical fraternity for many decades.

The popular endorsements that Peruna has received at the hands of the people have induced a great many doctors to try the remedy.

More prominent physicians use and endorse Peruna each year.

Dr. A. Morgan, 214 Gater street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Regular physicians do not, as a rule, endorse patent medicines. I have, however, found in my practice that Peruna is a notable exception and not at all like any other medicine generally sold as 'patent medicine.'

"In examining it I find that it is a scientifically prepared medicine, composed of herbal remedies of high medicinal value.

"It is a specific for catarrh of the head, lungs or stomach, a fine remedy for female troubles, and invaluable to mothers and children.

"After fevers or other protracted illness, it is one of the best tonics I know of to restore the system to normal condition and I recommend it to convalescents.

"It is a high class family remedy, good for young and old."—A. Morgan.

Peruna occupies a unique position in medical science. It is the only internal systemic catarrh remedy known to the medical profession to-day.

Robert R. Roberts, M. D., Washington, D. C., writes:

"Through my own experience as well as that of many of my friends and acquaintances who have been cured or relieved of catarrh by the use of Hartman's Peruna, I can confidently recommend it to those suffering from such disorders, and have no hesitation in prescribing it to my patients."-Robert R. Roberts.

Catarrh is a systemic disease curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peruna does.

Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarah is permanently cured.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Ask your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1906.

A Serious Question.

The question concerns the women. Men need not waste any time reading about it in this local.

There is one question the men have to ask and the women, especially young women and some who are older are glad to answer in the affirmative. I did say that I rather enjoy seeing an old man (but not a woman) smoking his pipe if he can do it temperately, let him get all the comfort he can out of it. Our boys should never begin. The question is asked me if women have not the same right to smoke as the men do? Yes about the same right, but there is a certain native refinement, something rather angelic about a woman, so it does not look so well for a woman to be seen smoking. The angels are always represented as women, never as men. Willing so far as possible, to answer all inquiries I trust that nothing will darken the bright prospects of success for the Safeguard Temperance movement.

A Safeguard.

Why the Wild Waves Are Like Some People.

Senator Dryden, of New Jersey, said of a certain article on life insurance in a review.

"It is like the wild waves"

"Like the wild waves?"

"Yes. Precisely. Two philosophers, a male and a female, were walking on a deserted beach. The female philosop her murmured dreamly:

"What are the wild waves saying"

"The male philosopher answered in a hoarse, gruff voice:

"Nothing, Matilda. They are like some people we know. They make a lot of noise, but they don't say anything."

A Good Reply

A lady received the following reply from a neighor in answer to the question as to why she allowed her children and husband to litter up the room in the house and the sentiment will find lodgment in every home loving person in the land; "The mark of little muddy feet on the floor can be easier removed than the stain when little feet go down the highway of evil. The prints of the little fingers on the window pane cannot shut out the sunshine half so much as the shadow that darkens the mother's heart over the one who is not a name through the coming years. And if my John finds his home a refuge from care and trouble, and his greatest happiness within its four walls, he can put his boots on the rocking chair, and hang his coat up on the floor every day in the week. And if I can stand it and he enjoys it, I cannot see that it is anybody else's business."

The New Sporting Annual.

The greatest of standard authorities, the "Police Gazette Sporting Annual," published by Richard K. Fox, Franklin Square, New York, has just been issued for 1906, and the many new records have increased its size but not its price. It contains records of baseball, bicycling, trotting, jumping, football, racing, aquatics, and all athletic sports. The main feature of the book, however, is the pugilistic records, and many pages are devoted to that popular branch of sport. This great book is made doubly attractive by its high class illustrations and photos of the champions. It is authentic and reliable, and stands today as authority on the subjects upon which it treats. The price is ten cents, postage two cents extra.

Wise Words.

Little kindnesses come back to us full g own,

Arrangements have been made tentatively for the interment at Arlington of Gen. Joseph Wheeler A site has been selected near the front of the historic Lee mansion and it has been arranged that there will be an escort from all the branches of the United States force stationed around Washington. The outlook is for the greatest military funeral since the interment of Gen. Lawton at Arlington after his death in battle in the Philipines Gen. Wheeler was known and liked in Washington long before his service in Cuba But that service identified him as the real stuff that patriots and not partisans are made of and no one will grudge him the honor of a national burial.

AN EVENT THAT MEANS MUCH TO PIANO BUYERS

The Introductory Sale of W. F. Frederick Proves a Revelation to Buyers.

The Largest and Finest Stock of Pianos Ever Seen Here Now Being Sold at less than One-half Price Usually Asked, in Petrikin Hall, Bellefonte. The first Day Selling a Marked Success, Many Fine Pianos Being Sold.

Stock Consists of the Best Makes, Including the Genuine Chickering & Sons, Kimball, Schubert, Price & Teeple Bach, Rembrandt, Sherwood & Sons, Hardman, Gabler and others.

Why not take advantage of the opportunity and save yourself $150 to $200 on your piano purchase? Depend upon it many years will elapse before you will have such a chance again. Every piano we sell in this sale represents only the factory cost of the piano itself, (many of them are going for less) the loss of all profit on the goods is just that much money saved to the purchasers, and every purchaser will be our staunch friend in the future.

Every piano is marked in plain figures and the red tag clearly indicates the great saving on each instrument. A call of inspection is necessary to appreciate what this sale means to you—of the money saving possibilities here presented.

In this stock are Uprights regularly sold for $250 and $300 that are going for $117 to $164. A little down and a little per month buys one.

We offer a number of standard grade pianos, various makes, that are worth and sell regularly at $325 to $400, as an introduction to business at $197, $215 to $254, either cash or easy payments.

It scarcely matters how little you may feel like investing in a piano, we are confident that if you act quickly you will find just what you are looking for here, both in make and in price and in terms.

We have a large number of the finest instruments of the world's best makes that we are especially anxious to have placed in the best homes in this vicinity. They are the regular $400, $450, $500 and $600 Cabinet Grands in extremely handsome cases, and we offer them at $278, $290, $358; a trifle higher for the more elaborate cases. Terms to suit your convenience.

This is an opportunity of securing one of the best makes for less money than the ordinary piano costs. Each and every instrument is guaranteed by the manufacturer and backed by the guarantee of W. F. Frederick.

It is a conceded fact that W. F. Frederick is by far the largest wholesaler and retailer of pianos between New York and Chicago; that his purchasing power (always spot cash) places him in a position to successfully retail the best grades of pianos for less money than the average dealer sells the medium or cheap grades. Within the last ten years W. F. Frederick has made for himself the name of being the most progressive dealer in the United States, and manufacturers from all over the country are continually soliciting his patronage, so that he is in a position to dictate for himself the selection of the finest products of the world's greatest manufacturers at prices that no other house can obtain. He absolutely controls the wholesaleing and retailing of the genuine Chickering & Sons, Hardman, Gabler, Kimball, Schubert, Price & Teeple, and many other makes of pianos in all the territory extending from Washington, D. C., to Cleveland, Ohio, and Parkersburg, W. Va.

The introductory sale which is now in progress in this city has proved a great success and the store is thronged with eager buyers from early morn until late nights, many fine pianos being sold each day. To those who have always been accustomed to having big prices asked them for cheap and medium grade pianos, this sale of ours is indeed a revelation; and indeed it would not be a profitable undertaking for us if we were not looking forward to the years to come to reap the benefit of our tremendous sacrifice in prices.

We intend these pianos shall make us lifelong friends, and our great aim is to place them among the best representative people of this vicinity as reference for future business. Nowhere else, either in this country or abroad, can you buy the genuine Chickering piano at less than the regular price, and here in our introductory sale it is not a question of cost or profit, but a firm determination to place some of them, both Grands and Uprights, in homes that will do us good for years to come.

Remember this introductory sale will only last a few days longer and when it is over we shall not attempt to duplicate any piano at this special price. It is therefore highly important that you should act quickly, otherwise the opportunity of a lifetime will be gone forever.

It is not necessary that you should pay the cash; easy terms of payment can be arranged to your liking, and if you wish to exchange that old organ or piano of yours we will take it at a reasonable valuation, and make you agreeable terms upon which to pay the balance.

This is not in any sense of the word a transient business. We are already well established in several nearby cities, and the business here is intended to be run in conjunction with our branch house in the Lycoming Opera House Block, Williamsport.

NO SOLDIERS TO GUARD JOHNSON

Murderer of Miss Allinson Will Be Taken to Mount Holly Secretly.

Mount Holly, N. J., Jan. 30. — The hangman's noose is gradually tightening around the neck of Rufus Johnson, of Raleigh, S. C., the colored man in the Baltimore jail, charged with the murder of Miss Florence W. Allinson, of Moorestown.

Because of his apprehension, Mrs. Smith, of the Monumental City, will receive the full reward of $500 offered by Mrs. Esther W. Strawbridge, upon whose property the crime was committed. She will also get a share of the $500 offered by the township of Chester, and of an equal amount offered by the county of Burlington.

Prosecutor Atkinson said: "We will not give the slightest intimation as to the time when Johnson will be transferred to Mount Holly, and the idea that soldiers will be employed to secure his safety is most ridiculous. It is not well to do so, although I am not apprehensive that there will be any trouble. We don't propose that any one shall know of his arrival. When once he is locked in the county jail, you can rest assured that he will not be molested."

Johnson will have a speedy trial. The December grand jury, which has not yet been discharged, will take up the case in a few days, and Johnson will be placed on trial immediately.

GENERAL WHEELER BURIED

Full Military Honors Paid Dead Hero In Washington.

Washington, Jan. 30.—With full military honors the body of General Joseph Wheeler, the veteran of two wars, was laid at rest in the National Cemetery at Arlington. The spot selected for his final repose lies on the grassy slope in front of and to the right of the historic Lee mansion, and is regarded as one of the most beautiful sites in the home of the soldier dead, as it overlooks the nation's capital across the Potomac.

GENERAL JOSEPH WHEELER.

Homage was paid by the Blue and by the Gray. Veterans of the two conflicts in which General Wheeler distinguished himself as a gallant soldier, personal friends, representatives of the two branches of congress and citizens joined with the nation's military in paying tribute to the dead general. The funeral cortege was a most imposing one. President and Mrs. Roosevelt attended the services in the church.

Impressive military services and the final services of the church marked the ceremonies at the cemetery. The cavalry dismounted at the gates and proceeded within the silent city of the dead on foot. The troops formed in line at the grave and stood at "present arms." The veteran associations took positions around the grave. With the casket resting just above the grave the committal services of the Episcopal church were conducted by Rev. Dr. Stires.

TO PROBE RAILWAY COMBINE

House Asks Information of Pennsylvania Railroad Alliance.

Washington, Jan. 30.—What is considered a strike at the railroads was taken by the house in the adoption of a resolution calling on the president to furnish information as to the existence of an alleged agreement in violation of the interstate commerce law between the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northern Central and the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad companies. Opposition to the resolution did not develop until after it had been declared adopted by the speaker. At this point Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, moved against it with a motion to reconsider. This motion was laid on the table with the aid of 37 Republican votes united with the Democrats, which makes it impossible to reconsider the resolution without a two-thirds vote of the house.

A tribute to the memory of General Joseph Wheeler was paid by the amendment of a bill under consideration so as to name one of the streets of the city "Wheeler street."

HURT IN RUNAWAY

Admiral Converse's Daughter Clung to Horse For Three Miles.

Washington, Jan. 30.—After clinging to the back of a runaway horse for three miles, Miss Sally Converse, the daughter of Rear Admiral Converse, of the navy, chief of the bureau of navigation, was thrown and seriously injured. Miss Converse was riding with Lieutenant Stephen C. Rowan, U. S. N., along the Cabin John bridge road when the young woman's horse took fright and in her efforts to manage the animal the curb chain broke. Before her escort could assist her, the horse dashed forward toward the city at a mad pace and ran for three miles until he turned at 20th and M streets and collided with a truck team, and all the horses went down in a mass. Miss Converse was thrown over one of the horses and rendered unconscious.

OUTDOOR SLEEP'S USE

Best Cure For Nervousness, Says a Society Woman.

PLACE OOT IN A PIAZZA CORNER

If No Porch Is Available, Construct a Room on the Top of the House, Says Mrs. Blanche C. Martin to an Audience of Society Women In New York—She Has Slept Outdoors For Five Years.

"Sleep out of doors if you want to know the wild joy of living," was the advice given to society women by Mrs. Blanche C. Martin, an apostle of outdoor life, following a recital which she gave in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York the other afternoon, says the New York Herald.

"I have slept out of doors in a corner of my piazza summer and winter for five years, and in that time I have never had a cold, though on several occasions it was 20 degrees below zero," she said. "I believe that it is a cure for nervousness and many kinds of pulmonary troubles.

"From experience I know that a few hours spent in sleep out of doors is far more beneficial and refreshing than twice the time in a bedroom even with the windows open. The buoyant feeling in the morning following a sleep out of doors is one that surpasses description.

"Awnings properly constructed and let down when it rains will be sufficient guard against getting wet.

"I wear just a simple white linen or muslin nightgown.

"I wouldn't advise any of you to begin sleeping out a very cold night, but for a woman who would like a start mild weather would be all right. Have plenty of warm bedding, good blankets, and you'll be comfortable on the coldest kind of nights.

"I would suggest for such an outdoor sleeping room a second story veranda—one where the cot can be placed in a sheltered nook, but if this is not possible then fix up a room on the roof with a top and have the sides ready to be let down in a storm."

Mrs. Martin is a remarkably healthy looking woman and has such red cheeks that every one in the audience who saw her and heard her read Justin Huntly McCarthy's "If I Were King" longed to be like her.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

ROCKEFELLER WIG'S USE.

Friend Says Oil King Really Wears It For Disguise.

When John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, took to wearing a wig less than a year ago he adopted a disguise that has proved almost impenetrable, says a New York dispatch to the Philadelphia Press.

A close friend of Mr. Rockefeller says it was not the millionaire's vanity that prompted the change, but his desire to conceal his identity from an inquisitive public.

Mr. Rockefeller, because of his hairless head and sharp features, used to be easily recognized when traveling about the country. This was vividly impressed upon him during a trip to San Francisco about a year ago, when a porter within three minutes after Mr. Rockefeller got on the train spread the news that "John" was aboard. On his return to Cleveland Mr. Rockefeller bought the wig, and since then he has been able to go about unmolested.

Different Service.

"Yes, sir," said the soldierly looking man, "I have spent fifteen years of my life in the service of my country."

"So have I," volunteered the low browed individual, offering his hand. "What were you in for?"—Houston Post.

WASTE LAND PROJECT

Planting of Forests In Northeastern Pennsylvania.

LARGE AREA TO BE REFORESTED

A Valuable Experiment In Growing Coal Mining Timbers on Fifteen Hundred Acres of Denuded Land In Wayne County—How the Present Young Growth Will Be Favored. Big Demand For Wood of All Kinds.

The question of reforesting waste mountain land in Wayne county, Pa., has been investigated by the forest service of the United States department of agriculture in connection with the preparation of a planting plan for lands controlled by Richard Knight of Middletown, N. Y.

plan recommends the planting of co...mercially valuable trees on 1,500 acres of denuded land. Whatever young growth is at present occupying the ground will be favored where it will not detract from the value of the future stand. There is a second growth forest of 700 acres adjacent to t... and to be planted, and the recom...dations will include directions for the right management of this forest, as well as measures to protect the whole property from fire.

The principal trees suitable for planting in this locality are chestnut, European larch, red pine and red oak. Black locust has many desirable qualities, but its susceptibility to insect damage makes its use on a large scale somewhat hazardous, so that it will be planted only to a limited extent.

The growth of all these species is fairly rapid, so that they may be expected to make a substantial yield in from thirty to forty years. The yield from thinning in the meantime will also be of value. When the plantation is from fifteen to thirty ...rs of age a good deal of materi... ...e utilized for such purposes as m...

The nursery stock need... for the plantation will be grow... on the tract. This will reduce the first cost, and the seedlings, when ready for planting, will already be acclimated. ...to furnish these seedlings, a nur... capable of rearing some 200,000 p...ts annually will be established in the coming spring.

The project is one of great interest to landowners of the region as an example of what may be done with these waste lands. It is reasonably certain that the experiment will increase the value of the property and prove an excellent business investment.

The demand for timber of all kinds in northeastern Pennsylvania is far in excess of the local supply. This is especially true of the better classes of material. The coal mining companies require enormous quantities of timber annually, and to obtain the amount needed they are forced to accept woods which are of small value. In many cases, however, the use of strong, durable timber is imperative, and to supply this demand large quantities must be imported, principally from the southern states.

The second growth hardwood forests which in many places have replaced the original stands are an illustration of what would have been general had the cut over lands been protected from fire. The absence of protection, however, has resulted in large areas of brush land, absolutely worthless in their present condition. This waste land, if forested, is capable of fully supplying the local market, and it is undoubted that large areas will be planted to forests in the near future.

A Little Farther On.

Just a little farther on waits a wondrous April dawn,
When the boughs will break in blossoms as a flag is lifted up,
When the grass will rise and run with the laughter of the sun
And the sky will seem to pour us wine from out a magic cup,
And we'll sing because of knowing all the songs the wind is blowing,
And the earth will be the gladder for the dreary days agone.
Then we'll catch the murmured words in the singing of the birds,
When the earth has rolled to springtime—just a little farther on.

For the good old earth it knows where the robin and the rose
Wait to set our hearts to leaping for the beauty of the day,
And it knows the necromance of the violets that dance
To the music of the brooklet that once more is loosed in play.
Ho, the blossom petals drifting in the breeze forever shifting
And the forests flaming greener for their battle with the snows!
Then we'll catch the melodies of the waking honeybees,
For the good old earth is rolling to the robin and the rose.

Shut your eyes and you may dream of the dandelion's gleam
Where the careless hand of springtime has been spilling all its gold,
While the meadow overnight flings aside the wintry blight,
And its carpet smooth as velvet is by fairy hands unrolled
Then we'll know the tang and tingle of the blossom scents that mingle,
And we'll taste the joys of living in the wondrous April dawn,
For we're swinging to the whiles of the singing and the smiles,
To the blessedness of springtime—just a little farther on.

MEMORIAL TO DR. HARPER.

Body of Chicago University President to Lie In a Chapel.

Plans to erect a memorial chapel in which will lie the body of Dr. William R. Harper, late president of Chicago university, took definite form recently at an informal gathering attended by the faculty and alumni of the University of Chicago.

The chapel is to be on the campus at Ellis avenue, opposite Fifty-eighth street, and will accommodate 3,000 persons, says the Chicago Journal. One room is to be dedicated especially to Dr. Harper. In this room his body will be placed as soon as the structure is completed.

The memorial chapel is considered the most fitting monument that could be erected in memory of the university's late president. It was Dr. Harper's wish, expressed to Major H. A. Rust, that he be buried in or near the college campus.

The funds necessary to erect the proposed memorial chapel are to be raised by voluntary contribution. The faculty, which consists of 328 members, will furnish the nucleus, and the alumni, students and general public, it is expected, will furnish the balance. No money will be solicited. It is believed that if it is definitely decided a chapel is a fitting memorial funds will pour in from all parts of the country.

A FREAK HEN.

Queer Fowl's Voice a Cross Between Cackle and Quack.

Willimantic (Conn.) people do not know whether Joseph Lussier has a duck or a hen, says a special dispatch from Derby, Conn., to the New York World. The fowl has the head of a lusty pullet and a few other characteristics of the hen family, but it has the walk, posture and many of the bodily features of a duck. It is eight months old, but hasn't laid any eggs yet.

Its tail is short and stubby, and its legs and feet resemble those of a duck, except that the feet lack the web. It utters a sound that seems to be a cross between the cackle of a hen and the quack or a duck.

The freak fowl eats from the ground like a duck and is an inordinate water drinker, but never has attempted to swim.

Quality in Potatoes.

The latest novelty in vegetables is a black potato, which has been sent to a well known seed merchant of London. This eccentric tuber comes from the Kongo and is said to have an excellent flavor. It is especially recommended for ornamental ...ing and in salads.

THE OCTOPUS.

Its Terrible Army of Suckers and Its Powerful Jaws.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers which are wonderful pieces of mechanism. When the sucker comes into contact with an object the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 100 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim, unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe inspiring looks the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels. In fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and, when found, proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color to correspond with that of its surroundings.

—Congress is now in aquiescent state It is conceeding that the "Insurrection" in the House, if it ever had any real foundation, has broken down. The joint statehood bill will pass unless something very unforseen happens to prevent, and the House rate bill, which it is conceeded embodies the President's ideas more than do the several Senate bills, will go to conference and get trimmed as sure as there is a conference. The Senator is not in the habit of giving up to the House and while there has been some talk of the House "standing pat" on the rate bill it is not thought that it will. Possibly this estimate of the House stamina may be wrong, but there will be more chance to tell at the end of next week,

One father wanted to know the best way to bring up his new twin babies in health and happiness; the other, a farmer, wished to know the quickest way to get rid of grasshoppers. Out of the usual fullness of an editor's knowledge, this one hastily answered these letters, but in the rush of business put the missives into the wrong envelopes. The next morning the father of the twins received this interesting answer: "Cover them carefully with straw and set fire to it, after jumping in the flames a few moments the little pests will be done for." And the man that was troubled with the grasshoppers was bidden to give castor oil regularly in moderate doses and rub their gums with a bone.

Made from Pure Grape Cream of Tartar

In baking powder Royal is the standard, the powder of highest reputation; found by the United States Government tests of greatest strength and purity.

It renders the food more healthful and palatable and is most economical in practical use.

Housekeepers are sometimes importuned to buy alum powders because they are "cheap." Yet some of the cheapest made powders are sold to consumers at the highest price.

Housekeepers should stop and think. Is it not better to buy the Royal and take no chances—the powder whose goodness and honesty are never questioned?

Is it economy to spoil your digestion by an alum-phosphate or other adultered powder to save a few pennies?

They live about 2½ miles north of Milesburg, near Messiah church. It was thought by all that she was about convalescent, and preparations were begun to lift the quarantine and fumigate the premises and last Sunday Mr. F. Wetzler and Dr. Huff drove out for that purpose and found her in a much debilitated condition, death coming next day. Her remains were interred on Tuesday following by Undertaker Wetzler, Rev. Zeigler, Emanuel Noll, Edward Burd and Harry Johnson, no one else being present, a sad and sorrowful ordeal indeed. Grace was a pleasant girl, loved to go to church and Sunday School, and always was very attentive and quite a model of good behavior. Services in her behalf will be held in the church on the 18 of March, at 2 p m. The bereaved share the condolence of the community.

The Cold Snap.

Monday night and Tuesday morning witnessed the coldest weather that Bellefonte has known this winter. It seems as if the weather man had kind of rue'd bargain for having treated us so nicely and thought he would show us that he had a few cold snaps in stock. Of course the ice men will be glad of this turn of affairs as it will give them a chance to fill their ice houses and prevent an ice famine next summer when "Old Sol" rushes the thermometer up around the 100 in the shade mark.

Reports differ as to how cold it was in different parts of town. Ex-Sheriff Woodring is the authority for the statement that it was 11 below zero at his home on Howard street. Ex-Commissioner's Clerk Ambrose Sloteman says it was 16 below zero at his home on South Water street. At 7 o'clock it was 5 below zero in front of Green's drug store and at 8 o'clock it was 2 below zero at the Court House. Water Superintendent Samuel Ryan however beats them all, for his thermometer at the Phoenix Pumping Station registered 21 below zero at 7 o'clock.
